

TIMOTHY WOLF ADMITTED TO AMERICAN COLLEGE OF COVERAGE COUNSEL

Missouri - Watters Wolf Bub Hansmann

Timothy Wolf of Watters Wolf Bub Hansmann has become a fellow of the American College of Coverage Counsel (ACCC), the preeminent association who represent the interests of insurers and policyholders in disputes arising out of insurance policies.

Tim Wolf is a nationally recognized trial lawyer who represents his clients in the areas of complex litigation, including business disputes, consumer claims, class actions, labor and employment claims, insurance coverage, bad faith litigation and catastrophic injury claims.

Tim is responsible for landmark decisions shaping class action law in Missouri and is often called on to lecture on class actions and how to manage the class action lawsuit.

The ACCC, established in 2012, is an invitation-only organization of senior lawyers who have devoted most of their practice to insurance disputes for 15 years or more. The ACCC's Fellows include many of the most prominent members of the insurance law bars of the United States and Canada, as well as Honorary Fellows from academia and the judiciary.

The ACCC focuses on educating all sectors involved in the field of insurance law – including the judiciary, legal and insurance professionals, law students and businesses – on cutting edge, emerging, and critical issues such as developing trends in insurance law and bad faith, trial practice and alternative dispute resolution, policy formation and claims handling.

The ACCC's mission is to advance the creative, ethical and efficient resolution of insurance coverage and extracontractual disputes; to enhance the civility and quality of the practice of insurance law; to provide peer-reviewed scholarship; and to improve the relationships among the members of our profession.

"The ACCC is delighted to welcome Tim Wolf as the latest member to become actively involved in its work," said Debra Varner, president of ACCC.

Timothy Wolf is battle-tested in successfully representing his clients in "bet your company" type cases. He provides counsel to his clients on primary and excess property and liability policies with an emphasis on catastrophic injury claims and complex coverage issues. He has published articles and often speaks to industry professionals regarding insurance regulations and proper claim handling procedures. His broad insurance background includes litigating all aspects of insurance cases involving property and casualty insurance.

Tim also has significant experience in successfully representing insurance clients in affirmative litigation. He counsels insurers on strategies to combat insurance fraud, including claims involving staged losses and medical billing fraud.
